

INDIAN TRUST SETTLEMENT

Are you an Heir of an Individual Indian Money Account Holder?

$38 MILLION IS AVAILABLE TO PAY PROBATE CLAIMS
THERE IS A DEADLINE OF JUNE 30, 2025

What is this about?

A $3.4 billion dollar settlement was approved in a class action lawsuit, called Cobell v. Salazar, that claimed individual Indian land, funds and other assets were mismanaged by the federal government.

Who is eligible?

You are eligible if you are an heir of one or more of the over 17,000 deceased Individual Indian Money (IIM) account holders whose Cobell settlement awards have not been distributed.

Here is what you need.

To file a claim, you need to submit documentation by June 30, 2025 including:

- A state or tribal probate order identifying estate heirs; or
- Documentation showing the appointment of an estate Executor, Administrator, or Personal Representative; or
- A last will and testament approved by a probate order; or
- A small estate document from an approved state in accordance with small estate procedures; or
- A federal probate order that directs distribution of trust funds or trust lands.

A copy of a tribal, or state, or federal probate order is needed to establish whether the Claims Administrator can pay the heir(s) directly for the estate's Settlement award.

If you do not have a tribal or state probate order but a personal representative or executor has been named for the estate, funds can be released to the representative or executor and they will be responsible for distributing the funds according to the wishes of the deceased Class Member.

After the deadline, all remaining funds will be distributed to the Cobell Scholarship Fund, which is managed by Indigenous Education, Inc.
